LABOR'S DRIVE TO REACH PEACE NEAR COLLAPSE

Green and Lewis Conclude Two Days of Conferences

ANNOUNCE THEY COULDN'T AGREE

Issue of Dual Unionism Remains Big Stumbling Block

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Negotiations for a complete reunion of organized labor's rival factions neared collapse today after John L. Lewis and William Green failed to reach an understanding in two days of conferences.

The two leaders of 7,000,000 organized workers, ending their face-to-face peace meeting last night, announced they had made no agreement and did not expect to meet again.

Report on Dec. 21
They will report on Dec. 21 to the full peace committee of three American Federation of Labor representatives and 10 CIO delegates.

It was a sudden end to the conversations that began Thursday with fanfare and excitement.

Although many observers were pessimistic, they said the last chance for peace was not gone.

Green and Lewis left the conference rooms separately. Lewis, in his gray slouch hat yanked down over his eyes, said there were no conclusions and no recommendations to report to the full committee.

Green, asked about the outcome of the conference, told interviewers to draw their own conclusions.

From persons close to the two labor leaders it was learned that the conference had made progress insofar as they weeded out many subordinate issues and complaints which had hampered the negotiations.

One Stumbling Block
The big stumbling block, however, continued to be the issue of dual unionism—the rival network of industrial unions which Lewis has organized since 1935 in fields where the AFL already had a foothold with craft unions.

Handling the state-mated problem back to the full committee, Lewis said, left the situation in a deadlock—the condition it was in when he and Green agreed to talk it over.

Confronting the 13 members of the full negotiating committee will be the choice of revitalizing the sagging reunion plan or throwing it out altogether.

County V. F. W. May Convert Farm Near Lisbon Into Park

Plans for transforming a 160-acre farm, located four miles west of Lisbon along the Lincoln highway, into a pleasure resort, were disclosed today by Lawrence A. Frost, of Salem, head of the county organization of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Although actual work on the project is not expected to get under way until spring, Paul Rumble of the state conservation department, arrived in Lisbon yesterday to make preliminary surveys with a view in mind of creating a lake on the grounds.

Known as the old Mason farm, the place was purchased by several veterans of Foreign Wars several years ago from Joseph Hammond. Before the annual V. F. W. holiday has been held there.

IRWIN RECEIVES STATE'S REPORT

Eight Cities, Villages Owe County $4,540, Examiners Say

LISBON, Dec. 4.—Eight Columbiana county cities and villages owe the county a total of $4,540.30 for maintenance of ordinary violators, according to findings returned by state examiners in a report received Friday by County Auditor John Irwin.

The amount represents more than half of the $8,162.57 total findings reported by the examiners. East Liverpool owes the largest amount, according to the report which lists that city's debt to the county at $1,542.85.

Salem owes $782.50; Wellsville $507.50; Salem, $782.50; East Palestine, $494; Lisbon, $358; Columbiana, $166; Leontonia, $235.85; and Salineville, $233. An additional finding for $220 was returned against East Liverpool for the same reason but under separate listing. The separation of this amount from the larger debt was not explained.

With the exception of the municipal indebtedness only $514.48 of the balance remains unpaid, according to the report. This is made up of 28 small accounts. The majority of the items are due from

Rev. George D. Keister To Be Honored Sunday; Will Speak

Rev. George D. Keister will begin his 11th year as pastor of the Holy Trinity English Lutheran church of Salem and the Trinity Lutheran church of Washingtonville with services at the two churches tomorrow.

In honor of the occasion, Rev. Joseph Sittler, D. D., of Columbus, president of the Synod of Ohio, will preach at the morning worship service of the Salem church.

During his ten years of service as pastor of the two churches, Rev. Keister has delivered 1,124 sermons, made 8,579 pastoral visits, performed 236 baptisms and 55 weddings, made 113 confirmations and conducted 166 funerals.

A total of 310 new members have been taken into the church during his pastorate and a new church building has been erected at a cost of $40,000.

The Trinity Lutheran church of Washingtonville was organized in 1810 and is one of oldest churches in this section. Holy Trinity church of Salem was organized in 1917 as a mission church, but became self-supporting in 1935.

In the 20-year history of Holy Trinity church, it has failed in only one year to be listed on the honor roll of the Synod of Ohio for its offerings in benevolence and mission work.

TEN BABES DIE IN RARE MALADY

Physicians, Doctors Wage Concerted Fight In Chicago

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—Physicians and scientists waged a concerted fight today against a strange disease that has caused the death of 10 babies and imperiled the lives of eight others during the past 11 days.

All of the tiny victims were in the infants' ward of St. Elizabeth's hospital. The disease, which killed most of the babies within 24 hours, was characterized by violent inflammation of the small intestines and was diagnosed as enteritis, or acute epidemic diarrhea.

New Cases Declined
The outbreak, confined to St. Elizabeth's hospital, began Nov. 23. Four babies died before the symptoms were fully recognized. The hospital immediately declined new obstetrical cases and isolated the other infants, but six succumbed and eight others were stricken. All of the latter were in serious condition.

The victims ranged in age from nine days to 24 days. Seven of them were girls.

Autopsies performed on the last two babies to die disclosed both had the same infection. In one, however, marked changes in the brain which apparently had occurred just before death lead bacteriologists to believe that the disease is caused by a virus or germ.

Dr. Herman Bundesen, president of the board of health, said there was no known defense against the infection, that it strikes without warning and that its rate of mortality was about 50 per cent. The only recourse, he said, was isolation.

Cause Not Known
Dr. Bundesen said the disease may be "a very virulent ultra-microscopic virus," and added "no one seems to know what causes it."

Public health doctors and nurses, summoned as soon as the disease was diagnosed, inspected the water supply, sewage, sterilizers and food formulas in a futile effort to discover a clue to the cause of the outbreak.

Dr. Francis Dulak, member of the hospital staff, expressed the opinion the outbreak was under control.

BULLETS RIDDLE BRITISH SHIP ON MERCY TRIP

Chinese Officer Killed by Shots From Undetermined Source

OUT TO RESCUE MAROONED NUNS

Japs Demand Right to Enter Shanghai International Settlement

(By Associated Press)
SHANGHAI, Dec. 4.—The British steamer Shushan was reported today riddled with bullets from an undetermined source while on a mission of mercy to Japanese-occupied Tsungming island, near Shanghai.

The chief Chinese officer was killed. A sailor and several passengers were wounded.

After more than 200 machine-gun shots had been fired, the little steamer's master, Captain N. McMillan, crept on his hands and knees under the spray of bullets to the wheelhouse. He reached the wheel safely and steered his vessel out of range.

Seek to Rescue Nuns
British authorities have been striving to rescue nine French-Canadian nuns who have been marooned on the island for about three months.

Among those aboard the 296-ton Shushan were the Rev. Father Adrien Sansoucy, a French-Canadian missionary, and E. B. Boothby, a British consular official. Boothby sought to rescue the isolated nuns but his efforts were frustrated by the machine-gunning.

British authorities said the Japanese, who have an air base on Tsungming island, were informed of the voyage in advance.

(Tsungming island is in the mouth of the Yangtze estuary, between Shanghai and the China sea.)

Japanese today demanded freedom to enter Shanghai's international settlement at will after their armed forces twice encountered foreign resistance.

At the same time a representative of Gen. Iwane Matsui, the Japanese commander, demanded that settlement police prevent any repetition of the "victory march" attack on Japanese soldiers.

After a grenade thrower had scattered a column of 6,000 Japanese soldiers on parade yesterday, a United States marine officer's protest forced a Japanese cordon out of the area guarded by American troops.

Earlier today French authorities blocked five Japanese army trucks from the French concession but finally permitted them to move supplies into the French area.

General Matsui's representative reserved the right to take all necessary steps to avoid any recurrence of violence unless precautions by settlement authorities were satisfactory.

Declaring the Japanese army regards settlement police as incapable of effectively suppressing anti-Japanism, he also reserved the right to take any steps—including examination of persons and search of property—to quell hostile agitators.

A spokesman for the Japanese high command previously had said the parade incident was closed. Two Chinese, including the grenade thrower, were killed; three Japanese soldiers, a Japanese policeman and a British police inspector were wounded, and a day and night of tension followed.

Youngstowner Hurt When Auto Upsets

George F. Arm of Youngstown suffered a hip injury when his automobile overturned following a collision with a vehicle operated by Victor Gurlea of 999 Liberty st., on Route 62, two miles north of Salem, at 10:15 a. m. yesterday.

Gurlea was unhurt, state highway patrolmen reported.

343 Traffic Accidents, Six Fatalities, In City So Far

State Patrol Has Investigated 390 Mishaps On County Highways; Traffic Death Toll For County Stands At 38

With practically a month yet to go, police department records disclose a total of 343 traffic accidents within the city for the year 1937.

Six accidents proved fatal in the 11 months to date and in 27 of the 343 mishaps pedestrians were involved. A train-auto crash at Wilson st. in July, accounted for four of the deaths.

While 16 of the accidents to date involved automobiles in collision with light poles or telephone poles, 294 crashes involved two or more automobiles, the records show.

These figures do not list traffic accidents occurring on highways outside the city, which are investigated by Salem state highway patrolmen.

Their records show a total of 390 accidents to date, occurring in Columbiana and Mahoning counties as well as a northern section of Carroll county.

Traffic fatalities in Columbiana county for the year now stand at 38. November, the month just ended, was the high period for accidents in the city, 47 being reported. September was second highest with 43 while July had 41.

January had 23 mishaps; February, 31; March, 30; April, 22; May, 31; June, 24; August, 21, and October, 30. Five pedestrians were hit by cars last month.

$185,630 Is Total Hit By Building Permits For Year

The Salem China Co.'s building permit obtained recently from the city for the construction of a $50,000 bisque kiln, sent the valuation of building permits in Salem for the year soaring to a $185,630 total.

Increased building activity was noted in the city this year, with many new homes being built and repairs made to present ones. Many home owners found it convenient to erect garages at their residences.

At the end of the first half of 1937, the valuation of building permits issued by the city was $68,965. New building during the summer months aided in giving the last half a $116,665 record to date.

STATE DOCTORS EXAMINE YOUTH, FIND HIM SANE

Defense Psychiatrist Says Boyhood Blow Was Damaging

FINAL ARGUMENTS SET FOR MONDAY

Jury Expected To Get Case By Tuesday Morning

LISBON, Dec. 4.—Johannes Borgwardt is legally sane and able to distinguish between right and wrong.

Two psychiatrists, summoned by the state in rebuttal proceedings, testified to this effect Friday afternoon, contradicting earlier testimony by a defense alienist who told the jury trying the 23-year-old German for first degree murder that Borgwardt was a "paranoiac."

Dr. Arthur G. Hyde, superintendent of the Massillon State Hospital for the Insane, and Dr. Seward Harris, Lisbon, physician and alienist, both stated the defendant had been examined by them and found sane.

Blow Not Severe Enough
The doctors stated the blow on the head sustained by Borgwardt when he was a child was not severe enough to result in insanity. Dr. Hyde, first to testify, stated he had observed a scar on Borgwardt's head and that the defendant had told him it was the result of the childhood injury.

"I pressed on the skull at the point covered by the scar and observed the pupils of his eyes at the same time," Dr. Hyde testified. "The reaction was normal."

Both psychiatrists said that "traumatic insanity" which sometimes results from a head injury, was rare and that it developed shortly after the injury was sustained. Asked by the prosecution if it would occur after a 17-year interval, both witnesses replied in the negative.

Borgwardt had previously testified the accident occurred in Germany when he was six years old. His sisters, Mrs. Ruth Herzog and Mrs. Mary Leibel, in earlier testimony said Borgwardt was about 11 years old when he was injured. A plank hit him on the head while he was playing with his sisters, according to their testimony.

Defense Rests
The defense rested its case at 2:10 p. m. Friday following examination of Dr. Thomas A. Burke of Cleveland, former assistant at the Newburg State hospital. Dr. Burke characterized Borgwardt as subject to delusions of persecution, a paranoiac and an introvert. He attributed his opinion to an examination conducted Friday morning and said Borgwardt's condition was due to the head injury.

Dr. Hyde supplemented his medical testimony with an assertion that the defendant had admitted to him he had shot and killed Mrs. Cranston. He recounted Borgwardt's movements on the night of the murder as a description furnished by the defendant during the examination.

WORRY WARTS

The anti-worry campaign mapped out by the National Association of Life Underwriters looks like a good thing.

Worry is a gnawing disease that feeds on itself, and raises the old Ned with the fond hopes of insurance underwriters that their clients may have abundant health and long lives.

So the underwriters have been worrying about what worry does to their clients, which possibly will help them to understand why their clients are worrying about what the causes of their worry may do to the underwriters.

NO BREAK

Coal dealers, expecting a rise in wholesale coal prices when the new rates fixed by the bituminous coal commission go into effect Dec. 15, are anxious to make it plain that early reports of lower prices for householders were erroneous. The opposite will be true.

What happened was that the commission fixed mine prices lower than the operators proposed, but still higher than present prices. While it is true that coal and industry will pay stiffer prices than householders, the latter will be stuck for price fixing in the coal industry, too.

In a previous editorial John Carson, consumers counsel on the bituminous coal commission, was commended for looking out for consumers. It appears now that the best he could do was to shave prices proposed by the operators from 5 to 15 cents a ton, which still entitles him to some praise, but not so much as America's furnace firers would like to give him.

IT NEVER STOPS

Agitation for a government lottery never stops. If a congressional bloc has its way, hearings will be held on a bill to provide a billion dollars a year to government from the pockets of chance takers.

The strongest argument of the lottery lobby is that because the public is willing, even eager, to dish out money to various lottery schemes anyway the government might as well go into the business.

Thus, the issue simmers down to this: Has the United States reached the point of financial and moral decadence where a government lottery would be the natural recourse of desperate bureaucracy?

Public lotteries in this country have been used widely in the past, always in periods of desperation. State lotteries once were the rule, not the exception. The Continental congress raised funds for the Revolutionary war by a lottery. The city of Washington resorted to lotteries to erect its first public buildings. But one by one lotteries were abandoned. At the turn of the century a flood of laws made them illegal.

The country had grown away from catch-as-catch-can financing. It is not yet necessary for it to return to sponging on gamblers for its funds.

PROVING HIS POINT

Critics of congressmen for not cheering President Roosevelt's economy move at the expense of federal highway aid jump to the obvious conclusion that they never want economy at their own expense anyway.

This cynical observation makes no allowance for the fact that budget paring is the highest of political arts and that Mr. Roosevelt lacked a great deal in finesse when he chose highway aid for a demonstration.

First of all, he proposed to take control of this particularly luscious pork barrel from congress and to give it to the secretary of agriculture. That, itself, was an invitation to a fight.

But he chose, also, to ignore the rule that it is easier to save a little money in several places than to save a lot in one place by recommending a 50 percent cut in federal aid to highways.

"Large savings in the cost of government," the President told congress in his message to the special session, "can be made only by cutting down or eliminating government functions. And to those who advocate such a course it is fair to put the question—Which functions of government do you advocate cutting off?"

Evidently, Mr. Roosevelt despairs of reducing government expenses. By choosing highway aid as a possible place to start he has helped congress and the public to feel the same way.

THE STARS SAY

For Sunday, December 5

Sunday's horoscope holds augury of an entirely unforeseen change, removal or journey, which will have a definite bearing on the shaping of the future life. Both the business and the private lives will be radically influenced, with promise of romantic adventure and personal gratification. Elders figure importantly, possibly in gifts, bequests or trusts.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of sudden developments that may eventuate in new environs, fresh plans and objectives and strange associates. All these are of major significance in the fortunes and destiny.

For Monday, December 6

Monday's astrological forecast is an excellent one, with most propitious aspects for promotion, increased prestige and personal popularity, enlarged finances and a very happy state of affairs in the domestic, social and affectional lives.

Those whose birthday it is are at the threshold of a year of splendid prospects for promotion, gain, popularity and happiness in the social, intimate and business lives. Speculation, investments, affiliation with large interests of a secret or "closed" nature are all profitably aspected.

A child born on this day has every quality and faculty for a grand, proud, noble and prosperous life, with fortune and fame among the possibilities. It should early be disciplined as to an unruly, hasty and biting tongue.

O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Dec. 4—Purely personal piffle: Nothing makes me feel more at home than a loud ticking hall clock. When I think of Bob Ripley living in the splendor of an island castle and roaming the world at will I recall his early days and what one fellow did with an idea. And don't worry about Youth's chances.

Only Rodgers and Hart tune I never liked: Johnny One Note. As a parlor trick I'd like to jabber away in that fake French like Charlie Judels. Best of the mots when the Windsors gave up their trip to U. S.: John Chapman's "And so to Bedaux!" Prediction: Next big headlines Russia's economic crack-up.

Favorite of the Amos 'n' Andy characters: The Kingfish. "The Song of India" sets me dreaming of a long travel trip. Not many can kid the other fellow with a straight face like Harry Staton, the syndicate man. Animal suffering makes me ill, with a temperament and everything.

When the household wants to see me beam, they announce beaten round steak with cream gravy, for dinner. Not more than a half a dozen O. Henry stories really fascinated. The rest always struck me as second rate. I like to hear the radio's "Prof. Quiz" shout: "You are absolutely right!"

The only Algernon I ever knew was a hostler in a small town livery stable. And a fellow packed with odd information. Such as corduroy was originally a royal cloth for kings only—called cord-du-roi. The most bored expressions I've ever seen were in the boxes at the Metropolitan. At one time I was the reporter on a country daily, gallery usher in the local opera house and on Saturday passed handbills for my aunt's millinery shop to the farmers. Closet skeleton stuff. Also I spent a half hour in the cooler for swimming in the creek au naturel.

For no reason at all there are three people at whose approach along the street I side up to windows as though greatly interested until they pass. Gen. Hugh Johnson is whipping over the nearest glove-fitting phrases among the daily scribbles. Our town had the perfect novel name for a bartender—Tony McHale. The most faithful employees ever known were two who tipped hats to male employers. Rudest people in New York: The ermined crew at first nights. My all-time favorite dig at restaurant prices is Bugs Baer's cry: "Waiter, my check and a fright wig!" I'd like to get the fun out of life at 60 that Daniel Frohman seems to get in his 80's. Frank Case is the only hotel man left who dines among guests in his own dining room. Newest symbol of feminine luxury: Those white fox evening coats. Cholly Knickerbocker is one scribbler who chatters as entertainingly as he writes. My greatest fits of depression are invariably around six in the evening.

Cantaloupe is the only food I cannot digest easily. Mrs. Walter Chrysler is the most striking white haired smart dresser. Shiest movie star ever met was Joan Crawford. Or she was putting on a swell act. H. G. Wells is sousing his public with his windiness. I've tried this year to like football, but am still apathetic. Burrus Jenkins, Jr. is another with Bob Edgren's gift to do a swell job of writing as well as drawing sports. Mitzel Green is proof that all "wonder kiddies" do not fade into obscurity with maturity. I've known but one person who could explain what eyebrows are for.

Easiest current model for the caricaturists: John L. Lewis. But none tops Ding's jutting-jawed limning of F. D. R. I can think of nothing so dismal as the Windsors with 70 trunks packed to sail, suddenly forced to cancel the trip. That would almost topple me off the water wagon. For many years I thought traveling incognito meant a private railroad coach. Gabriel Heatter's "And a man named Soandso" is one of the few radio repetitions that never bore.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland
New York City

TUBERCULOSIS

NOT LONG ago I spoke of the marked strides taken in the treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis. It was mentioned that in certain selected cases a new form of treatment is available. Reference was made to the so-called "lung collapse treatment" of tuberculosis.

The diseased lung is deliberately brought into a state of collapse, so that the cavity caused by the disease may have an opportunity to heal.

I have received numerous inquiries concerning this form of treatment. For this reason, it is well for me to go more into detail about it, explaining the method of producing what the doctors call "pneumothorax," or air in the pleural cavity.

How Lungs Work

To understand the procedure, you should bear in mind that the lungs lie in what is called the pleural sac. Imagine two rubber balloons, a smaller one placed inside a larger one, the little balloon representing the lungs. The space between the outer wall of the smaller balloon corresponds to the lungs, and the inner wall of the larger balloon to the pleural cavity.

A watery secretion serves to lubricate the surfaces so that they glide over each other without friction. To use our original figure, the smaller balloon can expand and contract without rubbing or irritating the outer balloon.

Under certain circumstances, the membrane I have described becomes infected and inflamed. Then there appear the stitching pain and other symptoms of pleurisy.

Assuming that the lung is diseased and the cavity created does not heal, the doctor proposes to collapse the lung to bring together the walls of the cavity. To do this he thrusts a needle through the chest wall and forces air into the pleural sac, producing compression of the lung and closure of the cavity.

Treatment Has Merits

To keep the lung collapsed it is necessary to pump in a little more air at definite intervals—"refills", the patient calls them. They are necessary to keep the lung in a collapsed state. The original procedure and the refilling may seem to be pretty unpleasant, but really

After the lung is collapsed, the patient rests in bed. In due time he goes about his affairs, carrying on his normal activities.

This form of treatment is useful only in certain cases. In these it has proved to be of great value to the sufferers from tuberculosis. Undoubtedly the procedure has saved thousands of lives. Whether the treatment is indicated can only be determined by the physician familiar with the case.

Services In Our Churches

Church President Speaks Sunday At Trinity Lutheran

Rev. Joseph Sittler, D.D., of Columbus, president of the Synod of Ohio of United Lutheran churches, will be guest minister at the morning worship service of the Holy Trinity English Lutheran church tomorrow, the second Sunday in Advent.

Rev. George D. Keister, pastor of the church, will begin his 11th year as head of this parish with services tomorrow.

The schedule of services is as follows:

9:45 a. m., Sunday school. Hebrews 4:11-11. Charles W. Youtz, superintendent.

It is true beyond a doubt that the Christian can find peace of soul through Jesus Christ. Of course there are the doubters who are all too ready to question this statement. The reason for their doubt is that they have never personally experienced the above fact. So they have no sufficient reason to doubt that which has been a fact to many Christians. Christ gives rest and peace as He assures the human soul of the forgiveness of sins. As the Christian takes refuge in His Master, he knows a peace of soul which no human power can give. "God is our refuge and strength."

Worship and sermon by Rev. Sittler at 11 a. m.

This Sunday marks the beginning of the eleventh year of the present pastorate. It is a pleasure to welcome the president of our Synod of Ohio as the guest speaker. We welcome the public to hear Dr. Sittler.

The gospel lesson for the second Sunday in Advent speaks of the distress of nations with perplexity. We are living in troubled times at the present. The solution of our problems seems far distant. The solution from a physical standpoint may never be reached. God and His kingdom must be allowed to enter into the hearts of men and into the working out of the plans of man. Jesus said, "Watch and pray always, that ye may be accounted worthy to escape all these things which are to come to pass and to stand before the Son of man."

The Luther league meets in conjunction with the C. Y. Federation in Trinity church in Canton Sunday at 3 p. m. The principal speaker is Rev. August F. Youth Is Speaking

Appropos the undeclared war in the east and the rumblings of a world war in Europe, it is refreshing to read the manifesto of a group of University of Illinois students: "We are the youth of America. We are the most disillusioned youth in history. You can't kid us. The nations value their gold more than their sons. Again they re-arm for war and youth marches to death while their elders cheer."

"You say we can't keep out? Who will fight your next world war? We, the American youth? We protest. We don't want your white crosses. We don't want your wreaths and tears on Armistice day or your two minutes of impatient silence. We don't want your medals and your long eulogies for the murders we shall commit. We don't even want the bonus. We want peace and democracy."

AIRPORT NEEDS TO BE STUDIED

Inadequate Terminals Put Brakes On Transport Developments

WASHINGTON—Aviation experts and officials of federal, state and municipal governments will meet Monday, Dec. 6, in an attempt to solve a nationwide airport problem which threatens progress in the entire air transport industry.

Col. J. Monroe Johnson, assistant secretary of commerce, called the conference after consultation with officials throughout the country, to develop a "national program of airport planning" designed to enable city governments to keep their air terminal facilities in stride with rapid progress in airplane development.

The situation described by Director Fred B. Fagg of the bureau of air commerce as "chaotic," arises from the fact that new planes under production, will require larger fields from which to take off and land. Those planes, built to carry more than 30 passengers at a speed of 230 miles an hour, will be ready for the country's air lanes next spring or summer.

Vast Terminal Cost

The cost of developing an airport is tremendous and the amounts invested in terminal facilities by city governments far exceeds the investment in the transport industry itself, air commerce bureau officials point out. Yet many cities are heavily in debt as a result of the depression and financing additional improvements on airports would be extremely difficult in some cases.

Officials said. Further, some municipalities must get the approval of citizens before borrowing, or have statutory debt limitations which complicate or prevent their obtaining additional funds.

Among the officials scheduled to take part in the discussions are Rear Admiral A. B. Cook, chief of the navy's bureau of aeronautics; Maj. Gen. Oscar Westover, chief of the army air corps, and the assistant chief, Brig. Gen. Henry H. Arnold.

In addition, invitations have been sent to the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, Air Transport Association of America, American Municipal Association Conference of Mayors, National Association of State Aviation Officials, National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, WPA and postoffice department.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, challenges "sob-sister" parole administrators in a report finding that eight G-men have been killed by paroled convicts or "confirmed criminals."

Hoover, who has charged that parole administration in some states approaches "a national scandal," has been attacked by many penal officials, including Sanford Bates, former director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons.

Two Agents Slain

In summarizing the death of the "service martyrs" of the F. B. I., Hoover used capital letters each time he reported that a parolee or confirmed criminal sent "a murderous volley of machine gun fire" or pistol shots into bodies of Federal agents.

Two agents have been slain this year. Wimberly W. Baker was killed at Topeka, Kas., April 16, by Robert Suhay and Glen John Applegate, both paroled convicts.

Truett E. Rowe, special agent, was slain near Gallup, N. M., by Guy Osborne, whom Hoover described as "a confirmed criminal who previously received probation."

Hoover said that three Federal agents were slain by "bloodthirsty, murderous" Lester Joseph Gillis, known as "Baby Face" Nelson.

Gillis, it was charged, killed W. Carter Baum during the raid at the Little Bohemia hideout of the Dillinger gang near Rhineland, Wis., and later mortally wounded Herman E. Hollis and Samuel P. Cowley on a suburban Chicago road. G-men later killed Nelson.

First to Fall

The first Federal agent to fall before criminal bullets was Edwin C. Shanahan, who was killed by Martin J. Durkin in Chicago on Oct. 11, 1925. Hoover described Durkin as "a confirmed criminal who prior to his apprehension by special agents never served time for his misdeeds."

DUFFY ACCUSES NAYLOR OF LIES

Possibility That Parole Board Key Witness May Face Perjury Charges Loomed Today

COLUMBUS, Dec. 4.—The possibility that Arch W. (Stub) Naylor, "key witness" in a grand jury investigation of alleged irregularities in the state's parole system, might face perjury charges, loomed today after Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Duffy accused him of lying.

"Stubby, you've lied like a trooper," Duffy fired at the alleged "parole broker" in an argument outside the jury room yesterday.

"You haven't played square with us," supplemented a juror, supporting Duffy.

Naylor, friend of Leland S. Dougan, former chairman of the state parole board, traded Duffy his testimony for a guarantee of immunity from prosecution in the parole probe but the attorney general said that the guarantee did not prohibit officials from charging him with perjury.

The jury tussled for three hours with Naylor yesterday but apparently failed to obtain much useful information. Loud voices emanating from the room indicated that Duffy and the jurors were having difficulty getting Naylor to answer their questions satisfactorily.

The attorney general's accusation was hurled just as he was preparing to dismiss Naylor as a witness and send him back to Zanesville, where he had been held on an open charge.

GRATE DISPLAYS NEW FORD TODAY

Two Distinct Lines, Both In Low-Price Field, Are Offered

The 1938 Ford V-type 8-cylinder cars go on display today at E. L. Grate Motor Co., show rooms, S. Ellsworth ave. They are offered this year as two distinct lines, both in the low-price field.

One is a newly styled standard Ford line, in coupe, Tudor and Fordor body types, powered with either the 85 or the 60-horsepower V-8 engine.

The other is a deluxe line for owners who desire additional style and appointments. This line is powered with the higher power engine only and includes eight body types.

The hood has been lengthened in the de luxe cars and its nearly vertical front is carried in a "v" well down on to the radiator grille.

The new standard line cars also present a larger appearance.

Tenders in both cars are more massive than heretofore and extend farther back. Head lamps are again recessed, but the tail lamps in the tips of the rear fenders are new.

The instrument panel also is an innovation, with instruments arranged in two groups directly in front of the driver. Instruments are lighted by fringe illumination.

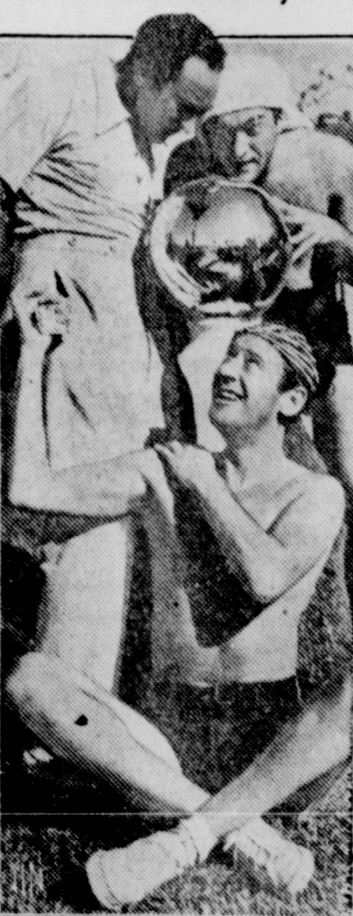

The steering wheel of the de luxe car is of flexible multiple steel type, of the three-spoke type in the standard.

Both front and rear seats are wide enough for three persons. One of the new features is the front seat of Tudor sedans. The cushion is the full width but the seat backs are divided and hinged diagonally so as to swing inward when tipped forward.

A new feature of the rear deck design is a combination handle, license bracket and light in the shape of an airplane propeller hub. Spare wheel and tire are carried in compartments except in the convertible cabriolet.

Gum From Which Abscessed Tooth Was Removed Needs Treatment, President Finds

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 4.—President Roosevelt planned today to return immediately to Washington for further dental treatment upon discovery that the gum where an abscessed tooth was removed Nov. 18 was failing to heal as rapidly as expected.

Three full days were trimmed from his southern trip schedule, one from his fishing cruise and two set aside for stop-overs in Georgia, to permit him to reach the national capital by Monday evening. He left Washington last Saturday night not intending to return until next Thursday.

The yacht Potomac was scheduled to leave the Tortugas islands, 500 miles southwest of Miami in the Gulf of Mexico, this afternoon. It will arrive here around 2 p. m. tomorrow and halt an hour after the president will be on his way north by special train.

Temporary White House officials insisted neither the crisis in China nor the congressional situation was a factor in the decision to return ahead of time.

The President personally notified Secretary McIntyre here by radio of his decision. He said that due to the delayed healing of his gum he thought advisable to return directly to Washington without filling scheduled engagements.

McIntyre said the chief executive's general condition was "excellent," but added he could not get dental treatment aboard ship that he could obtain in Washington.

"Beauty's A Charm" by HARRIET HINSDALE

CHAPTER XIX

As she went about the business of dressing for the party Lucy Lee's hands were icy cold and trembling with nervousness. Clyde's unexpected appearance had upset her terribly. She did not know what to think, nor how she felt. But that night, at least, there really wasn't time to think about it very much at all.

The dinner was a gay affair given by Don Ames at La Golondrina, the popular cafe down on Olvera street, that colorful Mexican paseo off the old Los Angeles Plaza. Here there were delicious Mexican food, there were dancers in native costume, lilted music and haunting love songs of old Spain.

Neville Preston sat next to Lucy Lee, looking more handsome than ever in evening clothes but professing himself weary and bored.

"But not bored by you," he smiled, assured her, "and not in the least weary of looking at you. As always you're a dream of loveliness. Hate them. Silly, senseless parade of a lot of blithering idiots who come to see and be seen. I loathe the whole blasted proceeding!"

"Don't believe a word he says," Don Ames chimed in. "He's like all the rest who crab about these premieres—wouldn't miss one of them for all the beans in Boston! But—lose a chance to hear the amazing throng cry: 'Neville Preston!' and have the radio announcer invite him to 'speak a few words to the great unseen audience of the air?' Say, try and keep any of 'em away—just try it!"

"Well," Pearl remarked, "I wouldn't miss this opening for worlds! Are you sure you told that Master of Ceremonies just what my name is? You promised to ring him up and tell him about me and my part in the picture."

"Sweetheart, I not only called him up about it," answered Ames, "but I also sent him a telegram reminding him that the Don Ames party would consist of none other than Miss Lucy Lee Carter, the most beautiful girl in the world. Miss Adrienne Page, southern society belle who was recently prevailed upon by Supreme Pictures to accept a part in Neville Preston's first picture—and the great Neville Preston himself, famous actor-director."

"Oh, Don," cooed Pearl, patting his hand. "You're simply marvelous!"

Long before they arrived at the theater they could see the wide beams of giant searchlights weaving back and forth against the night sky, sure indication of a picture premiere or preview.

Squads of police and motorcycle cops were on hand to keep back the surging mob of spectators and the wide walk to be traversed from automobiles to the theater entrance was roped off to keep the way clear for arriving patrons. Roars of excited recognition greeted such stars as Clark Gable, James Cagney, Pette Davis, Gary Cooper, Kay Francis, William Powell, Jean Harlow, Fred Astaire, Ginger Rogers and dozens of others.

Blinding lights played upon them, emphasizing the glitter of the women's jewels, their elaborate costumes and sleekly opulent fur wraps.

The voice of the radio announcer rose excitedly above the clamor of the crowd, describing to the millions of listeners in the power and prestige of each well-known personage who passed.

When asked to "greet their unseen audience of the air," many of the stars could find nothing more original to say than the proverbial: "Hello, everybody. I'm so glad to be here . . . I know this is going to be a grand picture!"

Extravagant praise was lightly tossed about . . . "the biggest and best picture ever made" . . . "magnificent" . . . "absolutely terrific" . . . "a most wonderful occasion" . . . "the perfect premiere," with "more stars than there are in heaven" . . . "a glorious night that will live in one's memory forever" . . . and "ah, I think Hollywood is the grandest place in the world!"

Relief from fulsome flattery came occasionally, as when a noted producer of slap-stick comedies dryly remarked: "Far better to remain silent and be thought dumb, than to speak and remove all doubt!"

When Lucy Lee stepped from the car she saw the cheering crowd pushing forward against the ropes. People were shoved off the camp chairs and small boxes which they had brought to sit upon while waiting for long hours, apparently indifferent to time and discomfort.

The staring eyes in all those hundreds of eager faces made her uncomfortable. She felt like an impostor. After all, came the confused thought, she was no different from these people on the other side of the ropes being pushed back by brawny policeman, good-naturedly trying to keep them in line.

Walking toward the theater doors with the hot glare of monster lights in her eyes, she heard the hoarse tones of the Master of Ceremonies, his voice cracking under the strain of his almost continuous chatter.

"The party of Don Ames, noted writer, is now coming in, friends. I see Lucy Lee Carter who recently signed a fine contract with Supreme Pictures after winning the title of the most beautiful girl in the world as the result of an international beauty contest! Also . . . here is Miss Adrienne Page, charming southern society belle, appearing in Neville Preston's current picture. And last but by no means least, courtly Neville Preston himself, famous actor-director of Supreme Productions! Hello, Neville old man . . . come over here and say a few words to your unseen audience of the air."

Preston spoke briefly into the microphone as the others continued slowly toward the doors.

To Lucy Lee the watching crowds had become only a mass of white faces, blurred into an indistinguishable whole. Then suddenly one face stood out from all the others.

Clyde Dixon! Surely that was Clyde . . . yet she was not certain. Perhaps she had only imagined it was he standing there in the background of the constantly shifting crowd. Before she could make sure there was a sudden surge against the ropes as the people behind pushed forward the better to see a new arrival.

The luxurious lobby was jammed with celebrities . . . men and women whose faces were known to the far ends of the world. Such an aggregation of beauty and power as could hardly be seen anywhere else, perhaps, than in Hollywood.

The air was heavy with expensive perfumes, vibrant with the electricity of assured success or its reasonably accurate facsimile. It was not strange that as she walked down the aisle to her seat Lucy Lee no longer wondered if that really was Clyde whom she had seen outside. Again, with Neville Preston smiling down at her, Clyde Dixon was forgotten.

But it was Clyde. He told her so when he came to see her again two days later. He had gone to the premiere because she mentioned it that afternoon of his arrival; and he was so hungry for a sight of her, he said. So he had stood for more than an hour in the pushing crowd just to catch a glimpse of her as she walked by—with another man. The famous and distinguished Neville Preston.

"You don't have to explain," he went on slowly. "I guess I understand, honey. This new life of yours . . . I don't exactly fit in, do I? That's what I was afraid of . . . and I had to come to Hollywood to find out. So I rented the service station to Ben Turner. You remember Ben?"

"Yes, of course I do, Clyde." She had known Ben all her life, yet now he seemed to belong to some other existence.

"Then I got into the old flivver and headed for California—and you. All I could think of was seeing you again . . . hearing your voice. But everything is changed, isn't it? Things aren't like they were between us back home."

"Oh Clyde—" her voice broke on a sob. There was so little she could say.

They were sitting in the living room, crowded with the ornate furnishings Pearl had chosen. He looked around and his clenched hands lying on his knees were gripped hard until the knuckles showed white in the brown skin. Lucy Lee recalled Neville Preston's hands, smooth and supple, always manicured to perfection. The hands of a man who in all his life had never done a day's manual labor. It wasn't fair to compare Clyde with Neville Preston. She knew that, and yet she couldn't help it. Clyde had spent his entire existence in one small community while Neville was, as he himself said, a cosmopolitan, a citizen of the great world.

"Don't think I'm blaming you, Lucy Lee. Please, I understand, and anyway Pearl made it plain enough. I knew I had lost you, last night—when I saw you with all those famous people and looking more beautiful than any of them."

"Don't Clyde—I can't bear to hear you talk that way." She put a hand over his and, as he grasped it hungrily, she felt him tremble. But his voice was steady enough when he went on.

"It's all right, honey. There's nothing more to say. I reckon. You read at you. Any girl would feel the same, I suppose. It's just my hard luck, that's all."

He smiled and held her hand closely. "I never was one to talk very much. You know that. It's a lot easier for me to put motors together than sentences. But if the time ever comes when you need Clyde, honey girl . . . he will always feel the same. Remember that, won't you? There will never be anybody else in the world for me. Never."

Announcing TWO NEW FORD V-8 CARS FOR 1938

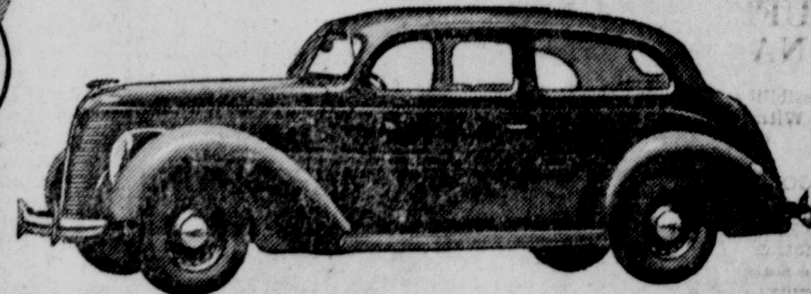

THE DE LUXE
85 HORSEPOWER

DE LUXE FORD V-8 . . . 112" wheelbase; 85-hp. engine; Improved Easy-Action Safety Brakes; Mohair or Broadcloth upholstery; Twin horns, tail lights, sun visors; Clock; 6.00" tires, white side-walls are extra; 8 body types; 6 colors.

THE STANDARD
60 OR 85 HORSEPOWER

STANDARD FORD V-8 . . . 112" wheelbase; 85 or 60 hp. engine; Improved Easy-Action Safety Brakes; Broadcloth or Mohair upholstery, Mohair extra in "60"; One tail light, one sun visor; Twin horns; 3 body types; 3 colors.

FORD offers two new cars for 1938—the Standard Ford V-8 and the De Luxe Ford V-8. They are different in appearance—but built to the same high standard of mechanical excellence—on the same chassis.

Because people liked our 1937 car so well, they bought more than of any other make. They liked its looks, its smooth, economical performance, and the way it handled. We have improved on that car in the newly styled Standard Ford V-8.

But some folks wanted still more size and style, with the same Ford advantages. For them, we designed a new De Luxe line.

The De Luxe Ford V-8 Sedans are longer with more room, larger luggage space, and finer appointments. De Luxe cars are equipped with the 85-horsepower engine only.

The Standard is even lower priced than the De Luxe. It has graceful new lines and well-tailored interiors. It gives you again a choice of V-8 engine sizes—85 horsepower or 60 horsepower.

Before Ford made V-type 8-cylinder engines available to every one, they were used only in expensive cars. Since then, four million Ford owners have learned the genuine enjoyment of driving an eight-cylinder car with all-around economy. The thrifty "60" engine, especially, makes possible in Standard models a very low first cost and equally low operating cost.

BOTH LINES LOW PRICED

With two distinct designs, two engine sizes and two price ranges, you'll find a 1938 Ford car to fit your needs exactly. Whichever one you choose you get the same proved Ford features.

PRICES FOR CARS DELIVERED IN DETROIT—TAXES EXTRA

Standard Ford V-8 (60 hp.)—Coupe, $599; Tudor, $644; Fordor, $689. Standard Ford V-8 (85 hp.)—Coupe, $629; Tudor, $669; Fordor, $714. De Luxe Ford V-8 (85 hp. only)—Coupe, $689; Tudor, $729; Fordor, $774; Convertible Coupe, $774; Club Coupe, $749; Convertible Club Coupe, $804; Phaeton, $824; Convertible Sedan, $904.

Standard and De Luxe cars equipped with bumpers, bumper guards, spare wheel, tire tube, tire lock and band, cigar lighter, twin horns, and headlight beam indicator on instrument panel, at no extra charge.

In addition, De Luxe cars are equipped with extra tail light, wind-shield wiper, sun visor; also de Luxe steering wheel, glove compartment lock, clock, and chrome wheel bands, at no extra charge.

GRIDIRON'S MEN OF IRON MAKE ALL-AMERICA

BIG TEN TALKS OF REMOVING 2 GRIDIRON LAWS

May Allow Training Table And Post-Season Grid Games

By CHARLES DUNKLEY
CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—Removal of two restrictions on football in the Western conference were up for consideration today by the faculty committee, after their presentation had been made by the director of athletics.

Lifting the ban on the modified training table which would enable the directors to provide at least one wholesome meal for football players four times a week. The directors pointed out that the school already supplied a meal on Friday night and on Saturday when the team played away from home, and that a player was in as much need of proper diet supervision after practice as he was on the day before and the day of the contest.

Removal of the ban against post season games. The coaches want legislation that will enable the Big Ten champion to become a potential foe in the annual Rose Bowl game—a project which has grown popular in both the Big Ten and practice conferences. Not since 1921 has a conference team appeared in the Rose Bowl.

Success of the training table move appeared doubtful, although some of the directors, felt certain that the faculty representative would act favorably.

The football coaches, after considerable discussion of defense and the professional forward pass rule, which allows throwing the ball from any point behind the point of scrimmage went on record opposing any change of rules. However, they recommended that games be officially timed by an electric clock placed on the scoreboard and operated from the sideline, and also that the officials wear shirts or jerseys striped in black and white to distinguish them from players. A question of officiating also came up for airing with the coaches voting to ask John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics to supply them with a complete list of Big Ten officials, detailing their age and period of service and petitioning the commissioner to employ more new men in Big Ten games. Several of the coaches deplored the difficulties encountered by promising high school officials who wanted to break into the conference officiating circle.

The Big Ten tennis coaches formed an association in an effort to stimulate interest in this sport. In wrestling several also was a new deal. Bouts henceforth will be decided on points as follows: Three points for a near fall; two points for a go-behind, either from underneath or on foot; and one point for an escape from fall.

Schedules for the 1938 track season were completed with the decision to hold the conference indoor championship at Chicago, March 11 and 12, the outdoor at Ohio State May 20 and 21, and the National Intercollegiate at the University of Minnesota, June 17 and 18.

Associated Press All-Star Team Emphasizes Part Iron Men Have Played In Stamina-Testing Season

White and Frank Given Nation-Wide Votes On All-America

By ALAN GOULD
NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—In an era of football specialists, developed to handle the growing complexities of America's most spectacular college sport, it is noteworthy that the 1937 All-America team, announced today, emphasizes the part that iron men have played in one of the most stamina-testing seasons on record.

Shock troops and specialists still figure prominently in the maneuvers of the nation's foremost aggregations of gridiron talent. Many played vital roles this year by coming through in emergencies, but the all-star spotlight shines brightest on the boys who not only stood the gaff by going the 60-minute route when needed but who also scaled their greatest heights of achievement under pressure.

Thus it is not surprising that country-wide reports, forming the basis for the Associated Press All-America selections, stressed durability in "major-league" competition, together with essential all-around qualifications. The fact that more colleges throughout the U. S. are playing exclusively in their own class of competition, rather than interspersing breathers through their schedules, has put greater premium on stamina.

This year's All-America team is equipped to go the route, with a rugged line averaging around 200 pounds per man from end to end, and a backfield quartet possessing rare talent. It includes the year's No. 1 opportunist, Charles Alexander Sweeney, Notre Dame's spectacular end and the first entry to top company the Fighting Irish have had in five years. It features experience with nine seniors in the mythical lineup, along with two standouts who have a year to go, Pittsburgh's Marshall (Biggie) Goldberg in the backfield and Cornell's giant Negro, Jerome (Brud) Holland, at end.

Two choices with nation-wide endorsement, Byron Raymond (Whizzer) White of Colorado university, and Clinton L. Edwards, Frank, Yale's backfield repeater, have closed careers that seem destined to echo through the corridors of football's hall of fame. White, the nation's leading scorer with 122 points in eight games, emerged sensationally as the Rocky Mountain area's successor to the renowned Earl (Dutch) Clark, 1928 All-America hero.

POLAND WHIPS GOSHEN QUINT

Damascus Team Beaten 37-18; Goshen Reserves Triumph

DAMASCUS, Dec. 4.—A fast-stepping Poland High school basketball team rolled to a 37 to 18 victory over Goshen High cagers here last night.

Bulkley paced the Poland quintet to victory, scoring seven field goals and two fouls for 16 points. Keeler was high scorer for the Goshen lads with 10 points.

A free throw by Lee Buchman gave the Goshen reserves an overtime victory over the Poland reserves, 17 to 16. The score was tied at 16-all at the end of the regulation playing time.

Goshen girls' and boys' teams are scheduled for two games next week, meeting Canfield quintets at Canfield on Friday night and playing North Lima teams at home Saturday night.

Frank cut a 2-year swath through tough Ivy league opposition that marked him among Yale's all-time greats.

The analysis of All-American selections, by positions, follows:—
ENDS
Rarely has a finer crop of ends been studied in action or has any position offered more hazards for the All-American picker. Only after exhaustive examination of their records and comparisons with the best elsewhere did the choices fall upon Notre Dame's Chuck Sweeney and Cornell's Brud Holland, first Negro to make the first All-American lineup since Walter Camp picked Paul Robison of Rutgers in 1918.

Sweeney, though not to be compared in the pass-catching department with towering Jim Benton of Arkansas, qualified on his smashing defensive play and knack of cashing the breaks.
Holland, a 202-pound "brown bomber," wrecked interference, blocked and tackled, snuffed passes and carried the ball. He was the fifth man in both his own and opposing backfields, due to a combination of speed, power and poise.

THE EAST AND SOUTH WAGED THE HOTTEST contest here. Ed Franco Fordham's underslung playmaker and Pittsburgh's Tony Matisi, 224-pound powerhouse, finally got the call, with Mellus of Villanova not far behind. But Dixie countered with an outstanding trio in Frank (Bruiser) Kinard of Mississippi, Eddie Gatto of Louisiana State, and Bo Russell of Auburn.
On the west coast there was no disagreement to rating Vic Markov of Washington as the best tackle. He shared all-coast honors with Wolff of Santa Clara. Midler of Minnesota rated high in the Big Ten. Harvard produced a fine pair of tackles in Booth and Kevorkian.

GUARDS
This spot offered one of the few All-America breathing spells, with little or no dispute to the selection of Joe Routt, the bundle of energy operating on an ironman basis for Texas A. & M., and Alabama's great captain, Leroy Monksy. They exploited the gentle art of "submarining" opponents on defense and blocking or blasting paths for ball-carriers on offense.
CENTERS
The conspicuous defensive roles to which centers are assigned in modern college football not only has increased the number of standouts but has also made the all-star problem that much tougher to solve. Coaches generally pick their smartest, stadiest and best tackling linemen for the pivot posts. Most centers dictate the defensive formations and figure in 50 per cent of the tackles along the line of scrimmage.

This year's choice, Carl Columbus Hinkle, Jr., of Vanderbilt, measures up to the highest standards on all counts, including durability, but his margin is by no means dominating. Hinkle closed a 2-year varsity career in which he played 60 minutes in 13 games, snapped the ball unerringly, and rarely was out-faxed on the defense.

ARMSTRONG PLANS TWO MORE FIGHTS
CLEVELAND, Dec. 4.—"Two more fights," beamed Featherweight Champion Henry Armstrong today, "and then I'm going home to my family for Christmas, and maybe a month or two of rest."
The thin-legged, barrel-chested and heavily muscled little Negro knockout artist, busiest big name in the pugilistic industry today, made no secret of the fact that he's looking forward to a rest, and some of Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis' favorite dish—fried chicken.

With 25 fights already in the books since Jan. 1, and two more coming up, I've been in training for a bout practically every day this year," Armstrong said.
Armstrong is scheduled for a ten-round, non-championship bout here Monday night.

SEE BIG DEALS AHEAD BETWEEN MAJOR LEAGUES

National Loop Expected To Do Land Office Business

By PAUL MICKELSON
CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—There was plenty of smoke and a lot of fire in the baseball trading business today as the shopping center shifted from the minor league meeting in Milwaukee to the major league arena in Chicago.

Though the American league turned all the deals at Milwaukee, indications today were that the long awaited swap of Brooklyn's Van Mungo was all but ready for official announcement. And when the eccentric Brooklyn fire baller is traded—to any of four clubs in the market—the National league is expected to do a land office business.

The best guess—and much of this player dealing is guessing—today is that the New York Giants or Chicago Cubs would get Mungo because those two clubs seemed to have what the undermanned Dodgers needed to rebuild their funny ball club. The Giants opened up a bit last night by selling Southpaw Pitcher Al Smith to the St. Louis Cardinals and getting Catcher Tom Padden, ex-Pittsburgh Pirate, from the Cards. Padden will go to the Jersey City farm.

Dark horse of the player mart was Pittsburgh. When the disappointing 1937 season closed, Manager Pie Traynor said his club was ready to shoot the works with almost every player on the club. So far, no one has had a peep out of Pie but he may swing a big deal around Paul Waner and Arky Vaughan any day now.

The American league, apparently, was just beginning to trade. Manager Jimmy Dykes of the White Sox certainly must do some shopping now because he has wound up with almost an entire lineup of right handed hitters, one of the surest routes to second division in baseball. The Boston Red Sox, it is known, want to get a deal for Jimmy Foss, Cleveland wants a catcher and fairly certain of landing Eddie Hensley from the St. Louis Browns; the Yankees, though sitting tight, would spend a pretty penny for a good pitcher, while the other clubs are after what they can get without too much of a sacrifice. Detroit, apparently, is well fixed now that it obtained Pitcher Vernon Kennedy from the White Sox, who got Marvin Owen and Gerald Walker.

The major league meetings open Monday.

Montague Shunned From Golf Events

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—John Montague, whose golfing reputation was deflated recently by Babe Ruth, won't be invited to the national match play open championship here Feb. 9.

But the Babe, who conquered Monty in informal matches, will get a bid, along with 35 of the nation's top-notch players.

Montague, however, may enter if he chooses.
Frank Nibley of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsoring the event, said "Montague won't be excluded. He simply won't be invited. Montague might be a great gallery attraction, but certain parties are not enthusiastic over him being issued a special bid."

Montague recently was acquitted of a robbery charge at Elizabethtown, N. Y.

DOCTORS DIFFER IN MURDER CASE

Give Conflicting Testimony In Borgwardt Hearing

"Borgwardt told me his father did not mistreat him more than ordinary," Dr. Hyde added.

Five character witnesses were placed on the stand by the defense in its final move before resting. They were Mrs. Anna Groves, R. E. Groves, Catherine Myers and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rowe, all of Sebring.

Mrs. Groves stated Borgwardt and his former wife had resided in her home while they lived in Sebring. She stated Borgwardt had been a "perfect gentleman" as far as she knew while he was living in her home. Her husband, R. E. Groves, supported this testimony.

Catherine Myers testified she was a roomer at the Groves home while the defendant and his wife were there. She said she never observed anything wrong and that Borgwardt had a good reputation. Miss Myers met Mrs. Cranston, the murdered woman, there on several occasions, she said.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rowe told the jury they frequently played cards and bowled with Borgwardt and his former wife. They both stated they had found them congenial and that Borgwardt's reputation was good.

Rebuttal testimony will be continued Monday following a week-end adjournment. The case is expected to go to the jury either late Monday or Tuesday morning. Closing arguments by both sides are expected to consume a large portion of the day. Court attaches indicated Friday that no time limit will be fixed for this portion of the trial.

Record-breaking crowds have attended each session of the trial with the exception of Monday when the jury was selected. All available space in the court room was utilized, including the two steps leading to the judicial bench. Many spectators appeared at the court house an hour or more before the sessions opened in an effort to secure seats. Borgwardt, throughout the trial, has maintained a calm, uncomplaining attitude which he maintained on the witness stand Thursday afternoon and Friday morning.

Bitter Fight Rages Over Controversial Farm Bill

1. Soil conservation

FARM BILL HAS FOUR AIMS

4. Storing crop surplus

Marvin Jones

Wright Patman

2. Agricultural loans

3. Creating new markets

One of the most heated congressional battles since President Roosevelt took office centers around the controversial farm measure. Opposition in the house, headed by Representative Wright Patman of Texas, asserts the measure would cost more than $700,000,000 annually and questions its constitutionality. Aligned in support of the plan, based on the "ever-normal" granary idea of Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace, is a bloc headed by Marvin Jones of Texas, chairman of the house agriculture committee. Four principal aims of the program include soil conservation, storing of surplus crops during bumper years, provision for crop loans and restoring old markets and create new ones. Although Senator Ellison D. Smith of South Carolina presented a bill in the senate on behalf of the senate agriculture committee, the house bill is more complete and is the one backed by farm organizations.

Northwestern, student newspaper at Northwestern University, reported after making a survey of fraternity and sorority houses. Interviewers found the guitar the most popular serenading instrument and old fashioned love songs more favored than current song hits.

merchants or represent unauthorized expenditures by county authorities.

The report particularly commends the auditor's office for efficiency and accuracy, stating it is well organized and efficient under the administration of Mr. Irwin. The treasurer's office also was commended, this portion of the report reading:

"The accuracy of the auditor's and treasurer's office in making tax duplicates and settlements shows great care has been exercised."

Records Well Kept

Records in other county offices were characterized as well kept and the administration as efficient. The report covered activities of all county offices and agencies from May 1, 1935, to Feb. 24, 1937, and was made by John Whitney and H. J. Blackmore, state examiners. They devoted approximately six months to the investigation.
The cost of operating the county infirmary for 1935 was fixed at $22,810.05 and at $22,981.55 for 1936. The per capita cost for each year was $158.35.
Operation of the Fairmount Children's home near Alliance, which Columbiana and Stark counties maintain, was $72,866.84 in 1936. During this period 280 children were cared for at a per capita cost of $260.
The largest of the paid findings returned was against former County Treasurer George Boice for $1,092.06. This shortage was occasioned by the embezzlement of over $5,000 in sales and excise tax receipts by Ralph Swoger, an employee. Swoger is serving a one to 10-year sentence in the Ohio penitentiary for his defalcation. Swoger's bondsmen made up part of the shortage. The balance was assumed by Boice and the entire deficit paid before the treasurer retired from office in September.

Considers Appeal

COLUMBUS, Dec. 4.—The state board of clemency had under advisement today an appeal of William Gardner from his death sentence for the holdup-slashing of Arch B. Coyner, Columbus hotel clerk, on the grounds that Gardner was not responsible for the crime and that it was not premeditated. Coyner was killed Jan. 25, 1935. Gardner's electrocution is scheduled for Dec. 18.

WEST VIRGINIA SUN BOWL TEAM

Marshall Glenn's Grid Eleven Will Face Texas Tech

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 4.—A 29-year-old part-time student of medicine, who shouldered the task of guiding West Virginia university's gridiron teams back to national prominence, turned out a bowl team—the Sun Bowl—in his first season.

One of the youngest mentors in major college ranks, Marshall "Little Sleepy" Glenn, took over the Mountaineer fortunes after being coached by All-American Ira "Rat" Rodgers, Yale's Earl "Greasy" "Rat" and Charles "Trusty" Tallman has failed to bring back the "Golden Era" of Dr. Clarence Spears' famous outfits.

In announcing West Virginia's acceptance of an invitation to meet Texas Tech on New Year's day in El Paso, Texas, Chairman R. B. Homan, Jr., of the Sun Bowl committee hailed the Mountaineers as "the outstanding state university team of the east."

When Tallman stepped down as coach last spring to become state superintendent of public safety, the university turned to Glenn, whose fire-team teams for three years had consistently defeated the yearlings of Pitt, Duquesne and Carnegie Tech.

Starting the season with eight seniors, a few juniors and a pack of sophomores, Glenn turned in seven victories, a tie with Georgetown and a 19-0 loss to Pitt—the best Mountaineer record since 1925. His team rolled up 176 points and held its opponents to 33.
